ENGEL closes gaps in financing

Schwertberg/Austria – July 2009. Thanks to a comprehensive portfolio of financing instruments, ENGEL can now help potential customers to implement planned investments. Various financing models are available. The package includes financing and leasing offers in cooperation with Deutsche Leasing AG and supplier loans which the family business is offering to its customers.

In cooperation with their partner Deutsche Leasing, ENGEL offers its customers flexible leasing and financing models to safeguard customer liquidity. A simplified approval procedure means that customers can look forward to fast and unproblematic financing without needing to go through difficult negotiations with a bank. ENGEL offers customers a stable and future-proof partnership for their investments, thus empowering customers to fulfil their financing requirements securely and quickly in these difficult times.

The second major pillar that ENGEL as a family business offers its customers to help finance their investments in these challenging times is supplier loans. ENGEL is offering customers a limited contingent of supplier loans in the scope of a ground breaking campaign. After the usual credit standing checks, ENGEL can offer international customers loans to help cover current investment planning. In doing so, ENGEL acts like a local bank, quickly and unbureaucratically closing financing gaps to beat the credit crunch.

Both financing instruments will help companies to go ahead with investments even if ENGEL customers are facing limited liquidity due to financing issues. Both models see ENGEL offering a versatile and unique portfolio of financing instruments to help its customers go ahead with investments and thus secure their long term competitive advantage.
